

Double Oh Seven: Human & Logistical Considerations in Event Ejections

GOALS

- considerations when you're involved in an ejection
- new tools for managing the ejection process
- scenario to practice
- bring back ideas & tools to your communities!

AGENDA

- transition; take care of personal needs
- introductions
- Making the Decision to Eject
- Planning the Ejection
- The Actual Ejection
- SCENARIO
- Conclusion & Wrap up

PLEASE: TRY TO PLACE YOURSELF NEXT TO PEOPLE YOU DON'T ALREADY KNOW WELL!

Emily: emily.liminal@gmail.com

Marah: burning.inkwell@gmail.com

MAKING THE DECISION

* THINGS TO CONSIDER

- This is a business decision: this is about protecting individuals, the event, and the community
- This is not a court of law
- One size does not fit all!
- Never a quick, clean, easy process
- Communications:
 - ↳ Need To Know
 - ↳ Less Is More
- Safety Considerations
 - ↳ Involving outside resources
- DAYLIGHT

* DECISION PROCESS

- Assemble the team
- If you're having the discussion, well...
- Complicating factors
- ONE PRIMARY LEAD
- Know your existing rules, norms
- Make a clear, firm decision

PLAN THE EJECTION

FIVE WORDS

PLAN, THEN ACT

LOGISTICS, AND SAFETY

- Camp & other cleanup
 - Infrastructure
 - Scene safety
 - Choices have consequences
-

SELF CARE & COMMUNITY CARE

3 THINGS

- 1) Does this need to happen?
 - 2) Does this need to happen now?
 - 3) Does this need to happen now, by me?
-

SUPPORTING PEOPLE

DOING THE EJECTION

EXERCISE: Who is gonna be harder?

FEELINGS

- 5 Stages
- This isn't about you
- Agency
- OK if something doesn't happen
- Goodbye Tour: nope.
- $$$
- play This Year Man:
save Next Year Man for later

DAYLIGHT

- exponentially more challenging in the dark
- rabbit
- fatigue, and related considerations
- troubleshooting; available resources

COMMS ≡ INFO SHARING

NOTICE ≡ UNDERSTAND YOUR NO
